

ORGANIZATION INFORMATION

An 11-member Board of Directors manages IGBO. It is comprised of the President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, six Regional Directors, and a Director at Large.

The Executive Committee is comprised of the President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer. This committee is responsible for negotiating, approving, and fulfilling all financial and legal contracts between IGBO and all other parties. The IGBO President must sign all IGBO contracts.

Directors are elected for a two-year term. The President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Director-At-Large are elected by all the voting members. The regional directors are elected by the voting members of their individual regions.

IGBO has created several administrative and standing committees to assist the Board of Directors in the day-to-day management of the organization. The exception is the Site Selection Committee, which is comprised of the entire voting membership and is responsible for selecting the host cities for our Annual Tournament and Conference.

The committees are made up of volunteers from the membership. Any IGBO member may apply to serve on an IGBO committee. The President makes all committee appointments for a one-year term. All committees serve in an advisory capacity, never a regulatory one.

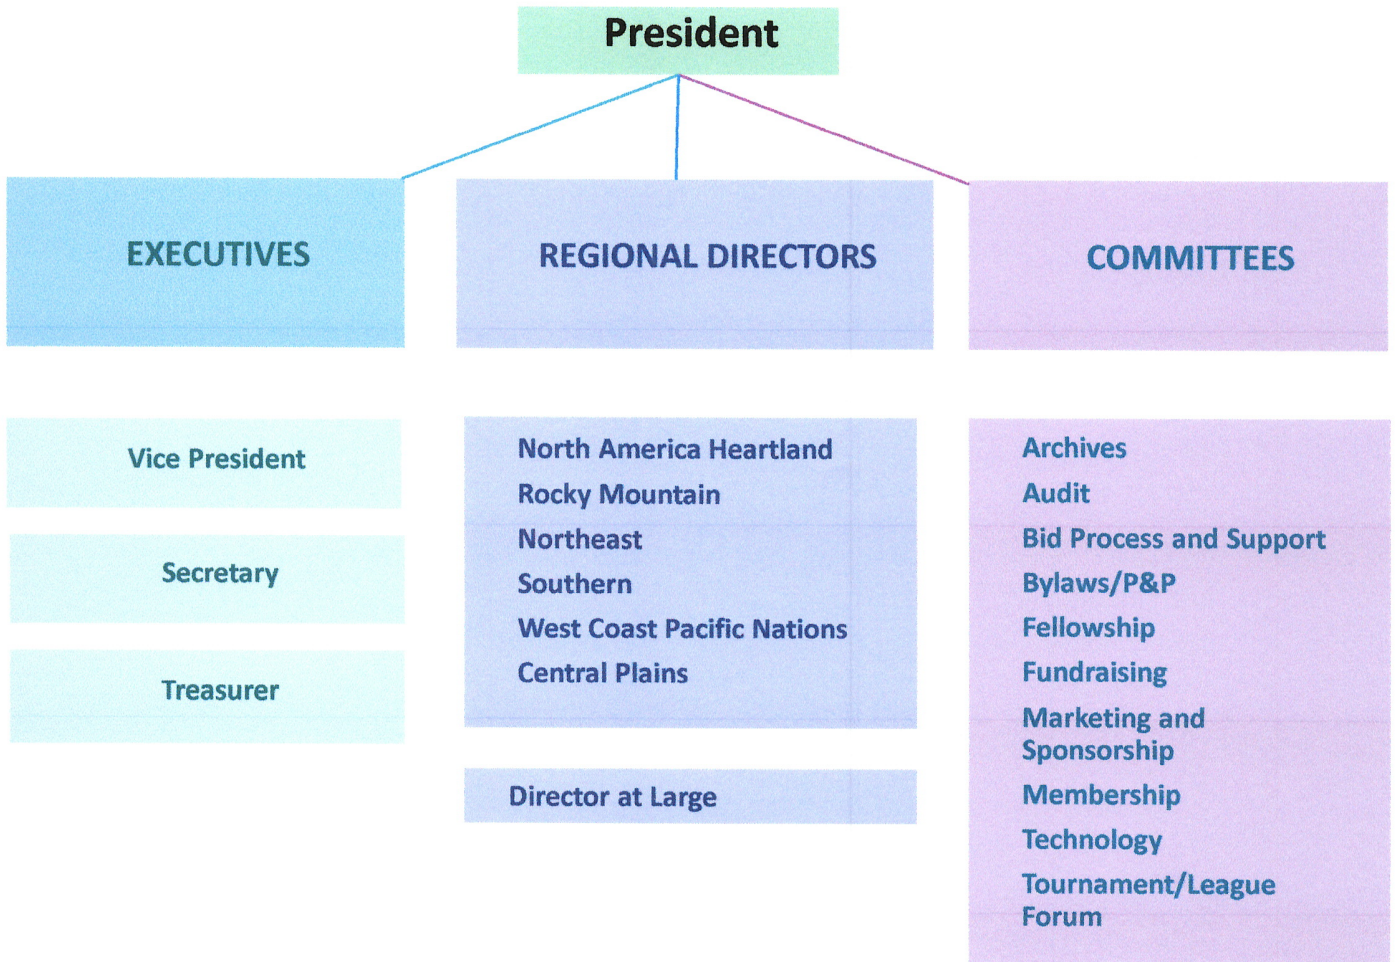

While the Board is elected to manage the day-to-day affairs of the organization, the ultimate responsibility lies with the voting members who attend (in person or by proxy) our annual General Membership (business) meetings. The voting membership decides all motions on the floor, elects the Directors, and selects the host cities for the Annual Tournament and Conference.

An organizational chart for the Board is provided on the following page.

IGBO is a non-profit, 501(c)(3) organization and is governed by its Articles of Incorporation. The purpose of IGBO is to promote the game of bowling as an international sport for all ages and genders. We are committed to providing educational opportunities, tournaments, conferences, and other activities that will advance our mission.
